Current Events Assignment – 2021-2022

Global History & Geography II

Having the ability to find information and understand it is the key to becoming a participatory citizen and an educated consumer. One of the best places to find information is in our everyday media. Newspapers, the television, the radio, and the Internet can provide us the necessary information to make the best decisions and choices. Current events can be used to help explain curriculum taught to us in class and provide us with clear-cut examples of how to apply the knowledge that we are learning.

There will be a current events assignment due every other week for the first 3 quarters, unless otherwise instructed. Here are the following requirements:

1. Select an article from a newspaper/magazine/Internet news site of your choice (Internet: onlinenewspapers.com: Press & Sun Bulletin, Evening Sun, New York Times, Los Angeles Times, etc. or Google News search)
 - The article must be about a designated topic regarding the World (*listed on the backside of this handout - ex. health care, civil rights, elections etc.)
 - When reading the article, you must annotate using the method we learned in class making sure to jot down the gist in the margin, circle terms/names you do not recognize and find the meaning/definition, underline terms/names that repeat or highlight the main idea in each paragraph or section.
2. You must write a summary of the article, which includes:
 - Proper format: title of the article, author of the article, date it was published, and source (newspaper/magazine/Internet news site). On backside of handout*
 - a. Analysis of the article including answers to “who, what, when, where, why?” (should be at least 8 sentences)
 - b. Explain your opinion about what the subject in the article was written about (at least 6 sentences)
 - c. Record three facts that you learned from reading this article.

The summary must be one page typed, double spaced (12 in. font) with one-inch margins.

Each of these assigned summaries will be counted as a quiz grade (50-point value). For every day it is late, you will lose 3 points, which includes weekends.
